How To Make Money Writing Articles And Promoting Affiliate Products

Writing can bring you money in more than one way. Writing articles for traffic is one of them.

If you write good articles, and offer online users what they are interested in, writing articles can make you a lot of money.

Here's how you can make money online writing articles.

1. Find interesting topics. Identifying topics to write on is easy. You just have to do a keyword research and you'll easily figure out the most common search terms within your chosen niche.

You may also opt to take advantage of forums and discussion boards where you potential clients usually air out their problems, needs, demands, and preference.

2. Set your articles apart from the rest. By this I mean offer something different or something new. If all writers seem to write about a certain topic then, find the angles which are not explored yet so you can offer your readers with fresh and new content.

Always think out of the box and don't contain yourself with what is usually accepted online. Be bold, be unique, and be known for it.

3. Make it personal. When writing your articles, you need to remember that you are writing for your peers over the internet. So, there is no need to sound too stiff or too formal.

To easily put these people at ease, strive to write your content using conversational tone, the same way you will speak with somebody who is important to you. Be enthusiastic, be genuinely concern, and try your best to sound warm and friendly.

4. Set your own deadlines and write more. Yes, you can work at your own pace when writing your articles.

However, if you want to stay productive you must know when you can finish your writing. By doing so, you can gauge how many articles you can finish per day and if the number will meet your projected monthly article marketing goals.

5. Start a blog free Blogger.com and monetize it with affiliate products. Include Google AdSense. Add banners leading to your affiliate sales page. Include cost per action program for easy money getting leads for affiliate merchants.

6. Create a really good resource box. Link it back to your new blog. Link to specific product pages for affiliate products you want to sell more of. Your resource box is designed to get the click through to your blog pages.

7. Submit your articles to the top article directories. Think big in terms of how many articles you are writing and submitting.

The more of them you get online the more traffic and income you will earn. You will make money online writing if you do more articles and include affiliate programs and products on your blog.
